RULES FOR CANDIDATES WISHING TO UNDERTAKE A ONE-YEAR MARSHALL SCHOLARSHIP

Marshall Scholarships finance young Americans of high ability to study for a degree in the United Kingdom in a system of higher education recognised for its excellence.

Founded by a 1953 Act of Parliament, Marshall Scholarships are mainly funded by the Foreign, Commonwealth and Development Office and commemorate the humane ideals of the Marshall Plan conceived by US General George C Marshall. They express the continuing gratitude of the British people to their American counterparts.

The objectives of the Marshall Scholarships are:

- To enable intellectually distinguished young Americans, their country's future leaders, to study in the UK.
- To help Scholars gain an understanding and appreciation of contemporary Britain.
- To contribute to the advancement of knowledge in science, technology, the humanities and social sciences and the creative arts at Britain's centres of academic excellence.
- To motivate Scholars to act as ambassadors from the USA to the UK and vice versa throughout their lives thus strengthening British-American understanding.
- To promote the personal and academic fulfilment of each Scholar.

In appointing Scholars, the Selectors will look for candidates who have the potential to excel as scholars, as leaders and as contributors to improved UK-US understanding. Assessment will be based on academic merit, leadership potential and ambassadorial potential. Details of the criteria used for selection can be found on the Marshall Commission website.

The one-year Marshall Scholarship is aimed at applicants who have strong reasons for wishing to study in the UK but are unable to commit to the two-year scholarship.

Applicants for the one-year award will be required to provide a statement for the following:

The one-year Marshall Scholarship is aimed at applicants who have strong reasons for wishing to study in the UK but are unable to commit to the two-year scholarship. Please read the objectives of the Marshall Scholarship outlined in the Rules and provide a statement that outlines why you are unable to apply for a two-year Scholarship (300 words maximum).

The conditions of award, application and selection procedures are set out in this document. Conditions governing Two-Year Scholarships are set out in a separate set of Rules for the Two-Year Scholarship.

GENERAL

1. Up to fifty Marshall Scholarships will be awarded in 2025. They are tenable at any British university and for study in any discipline at graduate level, leading to the award of a British university degree (courses not funded are outlined below).

NB university degrees may be referred to as courses or programmes.

2. Candidates are invited to indicate first and second choice courses at the same or different universities, subject to restrictions as detailed in Section 9. Expressions of interest in studying at universities other than Oxford, Cambridge and London institutions are particularly welcomed.

Candidates are especially encouraged to consider the Marshall Partnership Universities. A course search facility is available here:

www.marshallscholarship.org/apply/course-search

3. The selection of Scholars is based on our published criteria: www.marshallscholarship.org/apply/eligibility

This includes, under the academic criteria, a range of factors, including a candidate's choice of course and university. Therefore, selected candidates will be expected to apply to the first-choice university and course listed on their Marshall application. If unsuccessful in gaining admission to their first choice, candidates will be expected to apply for their second-choice university, and accept that place if admitted.

4. Candidates do not need to have applied for or be accepted at a British university before they apply for a Marshall Scholarship. However, applicants should be aware that there are some courses with early deadlines at institutions (including but not limited to the University of Oxford, University of Cambridge, and the Royal Academy of Music) that have early deadlines throughout October – early January which could precede updates on Marshall application progress or a scholarship offer. Applicants are encouraged to familiarise themselves with course deadlines and prepare accordingly.

Once a Scholar has been selected and accepted the offer, they will receive a confirmation letter from the Commission in early to mid-December and will be expected to complete an application for their first choice UK university programme (if not already completed). The decision to accept a Scholar is with the University, and the Commission has no influence on the outcome of UK university applications. The Marshall Commission cannot, therefore, guarantee that a Marshall Scholar will be admitted. The Marshall Secretariat team will be available during this process, and we encourage Scholars to seek advice and guidance at the earliest opportunity (please note that the offices will be closed during the holiday period).

When a Scholar applies to a course at Oxford or Cambridge, the Commission will identify the College that the Scholar should list on their application as their preference. Partner Colleges listed in the document below will be prioritised.

5. Final selection of Marshall Scholars is made by eight regional selection panels in the US.

AWARDS

6. The total value of a Marshall Scholarship varies according to costs associated with particular courses and geographic considerations, but all Scholars will receive the following:

- payment of tuition fees
- a personal allowance (“stipend”) to cover accommodation and basic living expenses. The stipend rates are set by the UK government and are reviewed annually. As an indicator, the current 2023-24 stipend rate of £1,347 per month if studying outside of London and £1,652 for those studying in London. The first stipend payment is received upon arrival to the UK.
- fares for economy flights to and from the United States
- Claimable allowances totalling approximately £3,500 including but not limited to certain academic expenses, UK travel, and shipping.

7. Marshall Scholarships are not subject to UK Income Tax but may be considered taxable income by the US Internal Revenue Service.

ELIGIBILITY

8. To qualify for a 2025 One-Year award, candidates should:

- be citizens of the United States of America (at the time they apply for a scholarship);
- (by the time they take up their scholarship i.e. September 2025) hold their first undergraduate degree from an accredited four-year college or university in the United States;

- have obtained a grade point average of not less than 3.7 on their undergraduate degree at the time of application (the most up-to-date undergraduate GPA the candidate has received will be used; final transcripts will be requested at the interview stage).
- have graduated from their first undergraduate college or university after April 2022.
- not have studied for or hold a degree or degree-equivalent qualification from a UK University or GCSE/A level qualifications undertaken in the UK.

Applicants who plan to attend graduate school in the US following their year in the UK should demonstrate that they have already applied, or intend to apply in the next couple of months, for these degrees and would be able to defer entry for one year in order to take up the Marshall Scholarship.

Candidates are only allowed to apply for either the one-year or the two-year Marshall Scholarship. Any candidate found applying for both will automatically be disqualified.

COURSE SELECTION

9. The following courses are NOT funded on the one-year Marshall Scholarship:

- Second BA/BSc (undergraduate) Degrees
- MBA (any university)
- MSc/MFE Financial Economics (any university)
- Postgraduate Diplomas/ Certificates in any subject (any university)
- Degrees leading to professional qualifications in medicine, dentistry, veterinary science and law (these degrees typically take 5 years to complete)
- Distance Learning degrees, including courses with large VLE or online components
- Degrees that require extended periods away from the University or the UK, including joint degrees with universities not in the UK
- Supervised research not leading to a degree qualification
- 15-month courses (courses longer than 12 months)
- Courses that start in January
- Part-time degrees

NB: One-year candidates must only consider degrees that are at least 10 months in duration and would be expected to remain in the UK for the duration of the course. Where a commitment to return to the US earlier than this is anticipated, permission will need to be sought from the Commission. Please check the university websites carefully for the duration of the degree in months. There are no exceptions to this regulation.

Candidates should read course descriptions and structures thoroughly. Candidates who list any of the qualifications not funded by the Marshall Commission on their application will not be invited to an interview.

The following should also be noted:

- University of London: under the university's regulations it is not possible to complete a research MPhil degree in less than two years.

In addition, if a candidate puts Oxford, Cambridge or Imperial College, King's College London, LSE or UCL as their first-choice institution none of these universities can be listed as second-choice institutions.

Please note: for Scholars Elect, the Commission will only support applications to UK universities that are listed on their Marshall application and in accordance with these restrictions.

NB: Candidates for all Partnership Scholarships will compete in the main Marshall Scholarship competition. Partnership awards are only offered if such candidates are selected in this process.

MAKING AN APPLICATION

11. Candidates may apply in one region only - either that in which they have their permanent home address or ordinary place of residence/employment, or that in which they are studying. Any candidate applying in more than one region will automatically be disqualified. Any candidate found to be falsifying their permanent address will automatically be disqualified.

Applications must be endorsed by the President, Provost, or Academic Dean of the applicant's undergraduate educational institution. The online application must be submitted and authorised by a designated member of staff at the applicant's undergraduate educational institution.

In exceptional circumstances candidates may be nominated by their Graduate School. However, special permission must be sought from the Marshall Commission. The internal deadline for candidates to submit to their institution will be displayed on the online application form. Applicants should speak to their institutions' designated member of staff for questions about the internal deadline.

No endorsing institution may submit more than 24 applications overall. There is no cap on the number of applications that can be sent to an individual Region, but the overall number of applications that an institution can endorse will be a maximum of 24.

All applicants must complete and submit their applications via the online system no later than 5:00pm in the time zone where your endorsing institution is located on 24 September 2024. Recommenders should submit letters of recommendation by the same deadline. The application will then be processed by your endorsing institution for submission. No changes will be able to be made to the application after this date.

Final submission of the application, including the three letters of recommendation and letter of endorsement, must be submitted online by the endorsing institution and received at the regional centre no later than 5:00pm in the time zone where your endorsing institution is located on 26 September 2024.

NB: PDF copies of the candidate's official Academic transcripts must be submitted online. Digital or scanned copies of the transcript are acceptable. Unofficial transcripts are not acceptable, and if these are included the application may be considered ineligible. The Commission recommends that applications be submitted well in advance of the deadline to avoid any last-minute issues.

SELECTION

12. As future leaders, with a lasting understanding of British society, Marshall Scholars will strengthen the enduring relationship between the British and American peoples, their governments and their institutions. Marshall Scholars are talented, independent and wide-ranging in their interests and their time as Scholars will enhance their intellectual and personal growth. Their direct engagement with the UK through its best academic programmes will contribute to their ultimate personal success.

13. The Marshall Aid Commemoration Commission is looking for candidates who have the potential to excel as scholars, as leaders and as contributors to improved UK-US understanding. In doing so, the Commission recognises the value of diversity among applicants and promotes equality of opportunity and is committed to ensuring the selection process is fair and equitable.

In appointing Scholars, the Selectors will assess applicants based on academic merit, leadership potential and ambassadorial potential. Details of the criteria used for selection can be found at www.marshallscholarship.org/apply/eligibility

14. Applications will be received and reviewed at eight regional centres in the United States (outlined in Section 24). Shortlisted candidates will be notified if they have been selected for interview by early to mid-November.

Candidates invited for interview must provide evidence of their date of birth and US citizenship (i.e. passport) and a copy of their original transcript to the Regional Centre.

The final selection will be announced shortly after the interviews. Those nominated for a scholarship will be offered a scholarship in writing and will be asked to accept or decline this offer, also in writing, within 5 days of receiving the offer. In keeping with other UK government-funded programs, the Marshall Commission asks Scholars to give a definitive and final response in this way so that the Commission can begin providing support. All awards are ultimately subject to the ability of those nominated for a Scholarship to receive an offer to study at a British university.

15. If candidates are required to attend an in-person interview in the region in which they have applied, they may be reimbursed for their travel expenses, not exceeding the cost of a round-trip airfare (at the most economical rate available) and overnight accommodation if unavoidable. Candidates will receive further instructions from the regional committee and will only be reimbursed if they follow the guidelines provided. In cases where interviews are conducted virtually, there will be no reimbursement for interview costs.

16. Applications will be accepted from eligible applicants who are residing outside the United States for study or work. Candidates offered an interview who will be working or studying overseas during the interview period will need to raise this with the relevant regional committee. Such candidates will be allowed to participate in a virtual interview and will not be expected to attend the interview in person. Candidates participating in virtual interviews will not be penalised.

If the Candidate does decide to return to the US for the interview, the Commission will not cover the cost of the flights.

TENURE FOR THE ONE YEAR MARSHALL SCHOLARSHIP

17. A one-year Marshall Scholarship is tenable for one academic year (i.e., 12 months). It is a condition of the award that Marshall Scholars must proceed to a degree that can be completed within the 12-month tenure. It should be noted that courses that run for less than 10 months will not be funded on this Scholarship.

The one-year Marshall Scholarships cannot be extended beyond the 12-month tenure.

18. Scholars are required to enroll at a British university for the full year of their award as full-time students proceeding to a higher degree.

As a Marshall Scholarship is intended to give the holder an opportunity to see as much as possible of the United Kingdom, meet its people and observe its institutions, Scholars will be expected to spend the majority of their vacation time in the country.

Academic study proposals involving lengthy periods away from the university or outside the United Kingdom will not be accepted. – more information can be found in the Scholar Handbook.

All visits (for academic or non-academic reasons) overseas including to the United States are subject to approval by the Marshall Commission and may not exceed 30 days in an academic year. If permission is given by the Commission to exceed this limit Scholars may be subject to a loss of stipend for this period.

19. Scholars' supervisors or directors of study at their UK universities will be asked to report at the end of their award to the Commission on their academic progress and general conduct. Should a Scholar be dismissed from his/her university for any reason, the Scholarship will be immediately terminated. If a Scholar engages in misconduct or faces disciplinary action at their university, the Marshall Commission reserves the right to take action in accordance with its Disciplinary Policy.

DEPENDANTS

20. Applicants are required to notify the regional committee to which they have applied or, if already selected for an award, to the Commission if they intend to bring a partner or children with them to the UK. More information on UK Visas and Immigration's (UKVI) student visa guidance for dependant visas can be found here: www.gov.uk/student-visa/family-members. Applicants must satisfy the UKVI's requirements and follow their guidelines for applying for dependants under the student visa.

21. The Commission does not offer an additional allowance for the partners of Scholars but has discretion to pay initial travel fares for dependants of Scholars who receive dependant visas, to provide a shipping allowance and to provide a settling-in allowance. The Commission does not cover the visa-related costs for dependants.

OTHER SCHOLARSHIPS AND EARNED INCOME

22. Candidates are asked to state on their application form whether they have applied, or intend to apply, for any similar scholarships. Marshall Scholarships cannot be held concurrently with any scholarship or award of like value.

The Commission reserves the right to abate or withdraw its Scholarships in instances where Scholars are beneficiaries of other significant awards, prizes or earned income. Scholars are required to disclose if they will be in receipt of any other scholarships, the total of which cannot exceed £10,000.

Marshall Scholars are able to undertake part-time paid employment while in the UK but this is subject to Home Office Regulations, university/college regulations, and individual Scholars' overall commitment to their studies in the UK and conditions of award. Scholars should remember that their academic studies are of paramount importance and should be given due priority.

Candidates who are in the military, and are receiving a salary, will receive a reduced maintenance allowance.

CODE OF CONDUCT FOR SCHOLARS

23. The Marshall Aid Commemoration Commission reserves the right to withdraw an offer of Scholarship under various conditions including if a Scholar or Scholar Elect engages in behaviour that is in violation of the Scholar Code of Conduct.

As a Marshall Scholar or Scholar Elect, the holder is an ambassador for both the Marshall Commission and the United States of America, and their actions and remarks will have an impact on the reputation of both. Scholars are therefore expected to adhere to high standards of conduct and behaviour and to show respect to others and your surroundings at all times.

The Marshall Commission aims to enable a free exchange of ideas during all its activities in order to achieve the maximum potential impact for all participants. Recognising the diversity of backgrounds, experiences and perspectives among our award holders, Scholars are reminded to always be respectful to others.

The Marshall Commission is committed to proactively safeguarding and promoting the welfare of Marshall Scholars, and to protecting all those with whom the Commission comes into contact.

The Commission requires Commissioners, Secretariat staff, and Scholars and Fellows to fulfil their role and responsibilities in a manner consistent with requirements for safeguarding.

Any complaints received will be taken very seriously and any behaviour that does not adhere to the above values and expectations will be addressed by the Marshall Commission.

FURTHER INFORMATION FOR APPLICANTS

25. Full details of administrative arrangements will be given to Scholars with notification of their awards, but in considering whether to apply for an award, candidates may like to be aware of the points covered below.

26. Fares for Marshall Scholars to travel to the United Kingdom will be paid from their place of residence in the United States to their university in the UK. The fares will cover economy class air travel in the US, economy class transatlantic air fares to the UK, and standard class train fares in the UK. No other expenses of travel can be met but the Commission has discretion to pay the fares of dependants where agreed in advance as outlined in points 20 and 21.

Subject to satisfactory completion of studies in the United Kingdom, fares will be paid for return journeys on the same basis. Scholars are not debarred from travelling by other means or at other rates to take up their award, but no reimbursement can exceed the actual amount expended nor the equivalent of the cost of the passages described above.

27. All Marshall Scholars must apply for Entry Clearance before they arrive in the UK. The Marshall Commission has special arrangements for Scholars' applications and information will be sent once a placement has been secured. Scholars will need a valid passport to apply for their visas. Passport-related costs are not covered by the Commission.

28. In most cases, Scholars will be expected to travel to the UK from Washington D.C. as a group and arrangements for the transatlantic flight will be made by the British Embassy in Washington. Information about the travel in the United States will also be available from the British Embassy in Washington. Scholars, who for special reasons obtain permission to make independent travel arrangements, must arrange to arrive in time for the beginning of their academic studies and will, on arrival in the UK, be reimbursed for the cost of their passage up to the permissible maximum indicated in the paragraph above.

29. The Commission has no responsibility for insurance against sickness, accident, or death either for candidates in the United States or for selected Scholars travelling to or from or residing in the United Kingdom. Although eligible for medical treatment in the United Kingdom (see paragraph below), Scholars are advised to maintain ongoing health insurance in the United States during their period of tenure should they wish. Scholars are also advised to make adequate arrangements for insurance of personal possessions when travelling and while residing in the United Kingdom.

30. Overseas students will pay a health tariff when applying for their visa (this tariff will be paid on behalf of Marshall Scholars) and will therefore be entitled to free medical attention under the National Health Service (NHS) while in the United Kingdom and will be required to register with a General Practitioner (GP) on arrival. It is recommended that before arriving in the UK, Scholars should meet any immunisation/vaccination requirements given by the Universities as condition for registration. It is also recommended that Scholars consult with their US doctor about any ongoing medication they will need access to, in case it is unavailable in the UK. Please read the Health and Wellbeing section of the Scholar Handbook for more information.

31. Scholarship stipends will be paid to Scholars in quarterly instalments spread over the academic year in accordance with the directions of the Commission.

32. Marshall Scholars are strongly advised to take advantage of university/college housing whenever this is available. If Scholars choose to live privately, it is recommended that Scholars wait until after they arrive to the UK to finalise accommodation or sign any agreements. Scholars should consult the accommodation team at their UK university for any queries about housing. The Commission cannot act as a guarantor.

33. Married Scholars or those contemplating bringing partners with them are advised that they will be required to demonstrate additional funds to UKVI as part of their visa application. UK government regulations permit spouses/long term partners accompanying Scholars to undertake paid employment for the duration of the award, and so the Commission recommends that employment opportunities are explored before arriving in the UK. More information can be found here: www.gov.uk/student-visa/family-members.

BRITISH UNIVERSITIES

34. Higher education in the United Kingdom is provided in a wide variety of universities. A full list of institutions at which Marshall Scholarships are tenable follows. However, in certain instances, awards may be held at other institutions which offer degree courses in partnership with and validated by a university.

35. Candidates are advised to research UK universities, courses and course structures since programmes and facilities vary from one institution to another. Some programmes which are commonly available in the universities and colleges of the United States may not be found in British universities or may have different requirements.

Candidates should also ensure that they meet the requirements of their proposed courses.

36. British students who enter university directly following their secondary school (High School) education will have spent at least the last two years largely devoted to specialised preparation for their proposed university programme, admission to which is by competitive selection. In general they study (or

"read") for three or four years for a degree in one particular subject, and do not cover the wide field of studies usually required in American institutions. Marshall Scholars choosing graduate programmes in the UK will therefore find that a considerable measure specialised attainment is expected in their chosen subject.

37. The minimum period of study for a dental, medical or veterinary science degree in the UK is five years; it is therefore not possible to undertake clinical training in these subjects on a Scholarship.
